Maria Arena has a PhD in Agricultural Chemistry. She has been working as Scientific Officer in EFSA since 2011. In her current work she coordinates the activities of the Panel on Plant Protection Products and their Residues of EFSA and conducts peer review of the environmental risk assessment of pesticide active substance as part of the ecotox team of the Pesticide Peer Review Unit of EFSA. Additionally, she is involved in the assessment of the endocrine disrupting properties of pesticides as well as in the development of new guidance documents.